POETRY.

She leans beside her mirror, in her old accustomed place,
Yet something unfamiliar is on her lovely face;
She wears a wreath, a snow-white wreath, which yet she never wore;
It gives a paleness to the cheek, unknown to it before.

The maiden goeth to the grove, and of the flowers beneath,
She takes the lily or the rose, to bind her midnight wreath;
But of one plant she gathers not, though fair its blossoms be;
Only the bride hath leave to wear buds from the orange-tree.

Once, only once, that wreath is worn,—once only may she wear
The pale white wreath of orange-flowers within her shining hair;
They wear, upon their soft wan bloom, the shade of coming years;
The spiritual presence is around of human hopes and fears;

Ay, let her soft and thoughtful eyes upon her mirror dwell,
For, in that long and tender look, she taketh her farewell
Of all her youth's unconsciousness, of all her lighter cares,
And for a deeper, sadder life—a woman's lot, prepares.

She leaves her old familiar place, the hearts that were her own;
The love to which she trusts herself is yet a thing unknown:
Though at one name her cheek turn red, though sweet it be to hear,
Yet for that name she must resign so much that has been dear.

It is an anxious happiness,—it is a fearful thing,
When first the maiden's small white hand puts on the golden ring;
She passeth from her father's house unto another's care;
And who may say what troubled hours, what sorrows wait her there?

Ah! love and life are mysteries, both blessing and both blest;
And yet how much they teach the heart of trial and unrest!
Sweet maiden, while these troubled thoughts 'mid bridal fancies sweep,
Well mayst thou pensive watch thy glass, and turn aside to weep.

MRS GEORGE BARRETT.

At present the leading actress in genteel comedy at the Tremont Theatre, was born in Boston, on the 4th day of May, 1802. Her father died soon after her birth, and her mother, Mrs Henry, subsequently married Mr Wm. Stockwell, well remembered as Sir Benjamin Backbite, in the School for Scandal, and his humorous delineation of similar characters. Both her mother and father-in-law died in her infancy, and she was thrown upon the charity of the world almost without a friend. It was, however, her good fortune at this calamitous period, to receive the protection and kindness of that most excellent woman, Mrs Barnes, whose liberality and benevolence in her limited sphere was an example of pure and holy charity. The associations of the young orphan naturally led her attention to the stage, where she may be said to have been educated, and her earliest steps tottered in those characters which can only be well personated by a child. In the winter of 1815, Mrs B. then Miss Henry, made her first appearance as a member of the dramatic corps, in the part of Julia, in the play of Guy Mannering; and her sweet countenance, blooming with youth and beauty, her trembling and timid manner, and the orphan friendlessness of her condition, more, probably, than any particular skill in her performance, secured for her a very partial judgment, and a good degree of favor. During the whole of that season she sustained the lighter characters of comedy, and advanced in public favor, by the evident effort she was making to improve herself in the profession she had assumed. For several successive seasons this interesting young lady continued to devote herself to the business of the stage, and was rewarded by the favor and encourgement of those who considered effort as laudable as talent, and were delighted to aid the exertions of one who had no protector but Providence, and no friends but such as her own worth could acquire. In 1817, Miss Henry was married to Mr Wm. Drummond, one of the Stock Company of the old Federal street Theatre, a gentleman who played with credit in characters of genteel comedy.

In the course of their professional engagement, Mr and Mrs D. left this first scene of her early career, and sought amongst strangers the reward and reputation which her growing merit was calculated to command. Her marriage with Mr D was of short duration. She parted from him, and, (with her children, the support of whom she assumed) threw herself again on the protection of the Boston public—always ready to succour the distressed and encourage the deserving. Mrs Drummond—re-assuming her maiden name of Henry—returned to her home upon the Boston boards, improved by her experience and observation, her person matured with all the rich charms of maternal beauty, and her fine talents developed beyond the expectations which even her early assiduity had promised. She played with spirit and applause in the circle of genteel comedy, the heroines of the melo drama, the lively characters in interludes and farce, and venturing in the higher departments of her profession, sustained with much strength Desdemona, Ophelia, Belvidera, and other arduous characters of tragedy. The situation of this lady at this time was singularly delicate and interesting. Without the protection, of husband, guardian or parent, and blooming in all the freshness of youth and beauty, exceeding prudence and integrity were required to preserve the esteem of her friends. After some further years of laborious exertion, in which, almost an "actress of all work," she made herself useful in every department of the drama, a prospect was held out to her which induced her to conclude her engagement at the theatre with a benefit, intended to be her last appearance on any stage; and in a poetical address prepared for the occasion, she took leave of a crowded house in the language of gratitude, and we doubt not of sincerity and truth. Her hope was frustrated, and Mrs Henry re-appeared in her accustomed line, with continued approbation and increasing merit. After a short interval she married Mr Geo H. Barrett, our accomplished comedian, and removed with him to New York, where, on the boards of the first Bowery, she commanded the admiration and applause she had habitually obtained from her friends at home. Mrs Barret, with her husband, soon after returned to Boston, and again presented themselves to their first friends. They were most cordially welcomed, and have been ever since sustained by one of the most discriminating and intelligent theatrical communities, at least in America, if not in Europe.

AN AFFAIR OF HONOR.

An affair of honor lately took place in South Molton, England, between a dapper medical gentleman of that town, and a waggish young attorney. The latter seeing his friend's gloves on the table, took the liberty of inserting a portion of lampblack into the fingers of them. The disciple of Esculapius being called out to visit a female patient, put on his gloves and proceeded to her house, where, to his mortification, the usual act of arranging his curly locks produced a laugh from the invalid; his eye catching the glass, he discovered his fair forehead covered with black streaks, and on looking at his hands he found them in the same state. Stung with mortification he rushed from the house, and charged the limb of the law with being the cause of his sufferings; an altercation ensued, which, however, terminated amicably. The company present at the explanation feeling anxious to carry on the joke the lawyer had begun, induced him to send a challenge to the doctor; they arranging that, without his being aware of the circumstance, there should be no bullets in the pistols. The parties met to carry into effect the bloodless encounter, when the police rushed in upon them and took them before the Mayor, who made an order for both to give sureties to keep the peace for twelve months.

INCORRUPTIBLE PORCELAIN TEETH.—C. J. HOUPT respectfully informs the citizens of Boston, that he continues inserting the Porcelain Teeth, at his office, No. 27 Merrimack st, or will visit persons at their own residence, and complete any operation in two visits, half an hour each. Having within the last three months given entire satisfaction in upwards of a hundred cases, he is now determined to introduce the operations more generally to the public, confident that the great benefit they will derive from having their teeth replaced in a manner that will almost defy detection, they will not hesitate to embrace the opportunity now offered—and that the price may not deter them, from this date it will be reduced one half.

Filling and cleaning at the same rate. Dentists supplied with teeth on reasonable terms. 1y s1

STATE REFORM OF BANKING AND CURRENCY, NO. 1.

THE PROBABLE COURSE OF NEW YORK STATE, AND ITS EFFECT IN DECIDING THE POLICY OF THE COUNTRY.

Mr Editor,—The principles, policy and intentions of General Jackson's administration on the currency question, have been so falsified, misunderstood and misrepresented, that it is high time for candid and honest men to consider the position in which he has left it, and to adopt such measures as will improve the glorious opportunity secured to us by his course. He has rescued from the government of a privileged trading association, the absolute power, (wielded by one man—the Bank Executive) of regulating the currency of the whole Union. He has induced Congress to return to the duties imposed upon them exclusively by the Constitution, of "coining money" and "regulating the value thereof, and of foreign coin"—duties, which were neglected for so many years, to further the interests of the Bank of the United States. He has desolved the alliance of this PRIVILEGED TRADING CORPORATION with the Federal Government in PUBLIC FINANCES—has repelled the innovations upon the natural working of the commercial system, through the agency of government, which were introduced and continued by former administrations, and which are so unjust to individuals, and so injurious to the country—has frowned down that legislative interference, which diverts the current of commerce, in order to control the political machinery by legislative patronage—has put an end to that blending of the trade of the country with its political action, which is so ruinous and corrupting to public and private virtue. By this course he has not only given an impulse to the industry of the country, but has secured to the STATE GOVERNMENTS ample opportunity and ability to reform their banking and currency systems. He has confined the action of the Federal Government within its strict Constitutional sphere, with a firmness which challenges the admiration of all candid men; and has thus preserved the delegated powers of the states from the encroachments of the Federal Government.

All upright, prudent and skilful traders, merchants, farmers and mechanics now have a common interest with capitalists to perfect that state reform of banking and currency, which the establishment of a bank like the late National Bank rendered absolutely impossible. The N. Y. merchants are opening their eyes to the advantages of their position and to the true policy of their State Government. A movement has commenced, which must lead to a radical revolution in the banking system of N. Y. state—a revolution, if properly introduced, which will be as mild in its operation, as it is just and Constitutional in a political view. We hail this step as one of the most important that could be taken by our republic for her permanent prosperity. It is one which the position of New York will force upon her; and she will get an advantage by it, which no state can take away by subsequent action. The Empire State, so truly democratic, means to anticipate others on this great and vitally important subject, as she did on that of Internal Improvements. The whole process consists merely in an abandonment of the restriction, and an adoption of the free-trade system of regulating the trade of banking. To effect this, A GENERAL LAW will be passed, to break down the monopoly of credit currency which is now secured, by special acts, to the present privileged banking corporations. We had hoped that as Mass. was the first to adopt the restriction and monopoly system, she would be the first to throw off the yoke, and act with common sense. But New York has enlightened statesmen; and her chief city will become the banking, as well as the commercial emporium of the Union. Those states who choose to persist in error will be tributary to her. She will attract capital to her territory not only from all parts of the Union, where the monopoly system is kept up, but also from Europe; for capital always leaves those communities who are so narrow-minded as to adopt a cut-throat policy, to seek free employment in communities who possess a decent share of common sense and liberality.

If New York had adopted this policy two years ago, we have little doubt that she would have saved the nation from the approaching financial crisis; and that the burden of it would have fallen upon England. It would have hastened the action of other states and particularly Pennsylvania, which is now sold to a monopoly monster. Let New York act now, however, and she may ward off the blow from her own head and weaken its effect upon other states. Pennsylvania will soon find out whether a legislature or a convention can violate the natural rights of citizens, (which doctrine Mr G. M. Dallas supports to the extent that a legislature can sell its jurisdiction and that a convention can establish any kind of institutions it chooses, inquisitions, slavery, monarchy, &c.); and whether a law is a law, or a contract! We thank God that no such heresies are prevalent here. The people of Massachusetts adhere to the doctrines of their Constitution—that the sole end of government is to protect the natural rights of citizens—that these natural rights are equal; and inalienable either by legislatures or conventions—that legislatures are bound to make standing laws furnishing citizens with power to enjoy these natural rights and the blessings of life; to the end that every man may at all times find his security in those laws and that the government may be one of equal laws and not of partial men. Let New York act wisely, and she guides the destinies of the Republic.

But in the mean time, we would ask the merchants, traders and mechanics, here, and the other dependant debtors in other parts of the State, who have encouraged enormous investments of capital in Banking, and who have been forced by competition to get in debt "over head and ears" to the Banks, whether they are prepared to meet the coming crisis? Will not the passage of a general law and the abolition of the usury laws by New York, accelerate the rapid flight of capital to the great heart of the commercial world on this side the Atlantic? How do they intend to stop this rallying of the life-blood of commerce to New York? Are they ready to meet the crisis, or do they mean to be stunned, in order that while they faint, they may rail against an administration, whose intentions have been vilified and falsified; and whose policy and measures have been either misunderstood, or wilfully misrepresented? Why will they not open their eyes to the principles of the administration, instead of allowing unprincipled politicians and partizan presses, to throw dust in their faces, for the purpose of keeping them in solitary grandeur on the currency, as well as on the Presidential question? Let them give up that man-worship, which has kept them so low in party bigotry. Let them refuse to allow ambitious and designing men in other states, any longer to turn their party bigotry into a means to make them bear the brunt of the approaching crisis. Let them consider well the political wants of the West and South, which must hereafter have such vast influence in the policy of the republic. Let them learn to adapt themselves to the national policy —to take advantage of the introduction of correct principles, into the practice of the federal government, so as to advance the interests of our State. Why should Massachusetts be pushed by a few reckless, factious men, as South Carolina was, into the most degrading and ridiculous position, that her worst enemies could wish? The people, we are convinced, will not suffer it. They will soon rescue her from the grasp of the monied aristocracy, on whose favor the success of a long route of dependant debtors has been made to hang, by the establishment of exclusive privileges and advantages, in that most important trade, which controls the direction of industry, and the valuation of property—Banking.

Mr Van Buren's policy has been explained at length in his letter to Sherrod Williams. It consists in ceasing to pass special bank charters; in the passage of a standing law, regulating private banking; and in watching existing banks until their charters expire, with that closeness, which the possession of exclusive privileges, and the consequent liability to abuse chartered power, so imperiously demand of an intelligent people who mean to be free. This policy of Mr Van Buren's cannot fail to be sustained with overwhelming unanimity in New York. Every State may cure the evils of our present banking and currency systems, and secure all their advantages, without any sudden movements. That giant privileged corporation, the United States Bank, nursed with government patronage and controlling the policy of the Union, in public and private finances, is hurled from its position. The enormous government patronage wielded by State Legislatures, to detach the exclusive interests of speculators and capitalists from the common interests of society, can no longer bribe the powerful to war upon the equal rights and liberties of the people. Let us calmly examine our position and make the most of it.

STANDING LAWS, SECURING TO ALL EQUAL RIGHTS.

Extract from a letter to the Editor, dated
Washington City, Nov. 30th, 1836.

Dear Sir:—The President's health is decidedly improved, and he will be about again in a few days. Indeed, he was in his office and at work day before yesterday.

You may whisper in the ear of the Atlas that Mr Van Buren is elected—Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana and Alabama have voted for him, and there is but little doubt, if any, of Illinois.

The Vice President is here, and in excellent health and spirits.

It is supposed, that for the fashionable world, Washington will not this winter furnish its usual attractions. The President, from the state of his health, cannot give many entertainments. The Vice President has just buried a brother, and will not of course engage in the fashionable parties of the winter. Gov. Cass's family are gone. There seems to be nobody left to make up the parties for this session but Mrs Forsyth and Mrs Woodbury. They will, undoubtedly, do their share of the agreeable, as they always have done.

The daughter of Lord Byron is expected here this winter, I learn.

I see by the newspapers that you are to lose friend Barrett and his lovely and accomplished wife. I trust that the Bostonians will not suffer them to depart without some substantial testimony in their favor in the shape of a benefit.

The weather is exceedingly cold for the season here.

"Quite the contrary."—The Philadelphia Ledger says that a fashionable young lady lately slipped and fell on the pavement in Chesnut street in front of the Marshall House. One of the boarders sprang to her relief. On placing her on her feet, he very feelingly inquired if she had sustained any injury; to which the blushing fair replied, "O no, Sir, quite the contrary, I assure you." Her benefactor, being unable to make out what she meant by the contrary of being injured, very carefully examined the bricks, to ascertain, we suppose, if she was the better for the fall, or the bricks were the worse.

The Harpers have published two beautiful volumes, intended for Christmas and New Year's presents. "The Hieroglyphic Bible," and "The Fairy Book." The Bible is beautifully printed, bound, and embellished. The Fairy Book is elegant enough to have come from Fairy hands, or to go into them, and contains a large number of interesting stories—such as "Little Red Riding Hood," "Blue Beard," "Cinderella," "The Children in the Wood," &c. &c., illustrated by nearly a hundred fine wood cuts.

Mr Brownson's "New view of Christianity, Society and the Church," presented in language clear and sensible, and could have emanated from none but a strong and cultivated mind. The volume is published by Munroe & Co., and is worthy the attention of the philanthropist and lover of truth.

The American Monthly Magazine, for December, is a very full and excellent number. We shall notice it more particularly hereafter, and enrich our columns from its pages.

We have received a new work from Jordan, called "The Partisan Leader; a Tale of the Future. By Edward Wm. Sidney. It is dedicated to the people of Virginia. We shall read it and then give our opinion of its merits—it strikes us that it is rather a queer book.

Our friend Chandler of the United States Gazette, who lives upon the banks of the Schuylkill, thinks it would be a bad plan to abolish the duty on coal; those out of the mining districts think differently.

Sergeant Talfourd's new tragedy of "Ion," is soon to be brought out at the Chesnut street Theatre, Philadelphia—the principal characters to be sustained by the Ternans.

The Bangor Farmer describes the dress of a lady there during a November rain storm, when mud is ancle deep, thus—

"A fur cape, a boa twisted four times round her neck, silk stockings and French kid slippers."

A Correspondent wishes us to inquire the cause of a recent disturbance at Harvard University, which resulted in the dismissal of a couple of students. We shall do no such thing.

Specie becoming plenty.—The editor of the Methuen Gazette has seen a silver twenty-cent piece, within a day or two.

Mr Boyden.—This gentleman of the Astor House, will have a new trial in the Court of Sessions this week, for the assault on Mr Bond the cracker baker.

"The Archer's Song," just published by Parker & Ditson, is a very sweet piece of music.

Michigan.—The following is the substance of a Circular of the Committee appointed by the Wayne delegates to correspond with their fellow citizens. At a meeting of the Democratic Convention for the county of Wayne, consisting of one hundred and twenty-four delegates, a resolution was unanimously adopted, recommending the immediate call of meetings in every county, with the view of electing another State Convention, in order to effect the admission of Michigan into the Union in time to secure the great interests dependant upon that event. The public sentiment is found to be general and decisive in favor of the measure. The people of the county of Washtenaw have held a meeting, at which they have adopted resolutions, urging the immediate election of another convention for that purpose. This is the county, it will be recollected, the vote of which, if given in favor of admission at the Convention election, as it has since been given, would have enabled Michigan to occupy, at this moment, the position of a State of the Union. Their admission before the first of January can alone save to the State her share of the surplus revenue, and the five per cent. on the proceeds of the sales of public lands, which will amount at least to six hundred thousand dollars. It will likewise keep up, between the slaveholding and non-slaveholding States, that equilibrium in the Senate, so necessary to the harmony, safety and perpetuation of our union. The Committee appointed by the Wayne delegates, to correspond with their fellow citizens, further state, that the only mode in which the great object can be effected, before the first of January, is for the people themselves, without any executive or legislative interposition, to elect and call together a convention, to give their assent to the proferred Congressional terms of admission. The Committee, therefore, recommend that the qualified voters of the several counties in the State meet on the fifth and sixth days of December, in their respective townships, and elect a number of delegates double that of their representation in the popular branch of the legislature; and that the returns of the number of votes polled for the candidates in favor of and opposed to, a compliance with the congressional terms of admission, be transmitted from each county to the Secretary of State. They further recommend that the delegates thus elected, meet in convention at the village of Ann Arbon, on Wednesday, the 14th day of December, and there proceed to consider the expediency of assenting to the Congressional conditions for the admission of Michigan into the Union. It is suggested, likewise, that they adopt a memorial to Congress, asking that body to repeal so much of the act of June 15th, 1836, as requires the assent of the people of Michigan to the conditions of admission. Thus far the committee proceed in their remarks.

A letter from Steven T. Mason, Governor of Michigan, remarks: That the convention of Wayne county suggested that he should issue a proclamation, recommending the election of delegates to another convention, whenever satisfied that a majority of the people are averse to the decision of the late convention holden at Ann Arbon. But he does not consider the power to recommend the election of delegates to a new convention, at his discretion, as vested in him by law. If the people of Michigan are averse to the decision of the late Ann Arbon convention, they possess the right and the power to reverse it. No previous act of a convention precludes its acceptance by the people at a subsequent day. If the decision of their convention is the act of a clear and decisive majority of the people, it will meet the design of Congress, and secure to them the rights and privileges of a sovereign state of the Union. He adds, that having a common interest at stake, it is the duty of every citizen to make this last effort, with the Federal Government, for the purpose of obtaining, if possible, the unconditional admission of Michigan into the Union.

☞ The election returns from the South and West are yet incomplete. Enough have been received, however, to render Van Buren's choice by the people certain. The last Globe received, says:—

"We have received letters by the last mail, and some straggling returns from newspapers, which go far to satisfy us that Illinois, Missouri and Arkansas, as well as Louisiana and Alabama, have given majorities for the republican ticket."

The Philadelphia American Sentinel, of Friday says, we learn that letters were received in this city by last night's mail, which announce the success of the Van Buren electoral ticket in Illinois.

Mangum, United States Senator from North Carolina—Leigh from Virginia, and Clayton from Delaware, all whigs, have intimated their intention to resign their seats.

Major Noah thus gives up the ghost:—

"The country, in spite of our exertions, has been handed over to Van Buren, and in him and in his line will the succession probably remain till the end of time.

The States to be heard from are Illinois, Missouri, Mississippi, Arkansas, Alabama, and Louisiana, in each of which, with the exception perhaps of Mississippi, he will receive a small majority. When the returns are perfect we shall publish them."

The opposition have got up a story that they have carried Louisiana by 20 or 30 votes. We shall know the truth of the report in a day or two.

The Governor of Virginia has issued his official Proclamation, announcing the election of the Van Buren electors, and convoking their attendance at Richmond, on the 1st Wednesday of December.

Robbery.—Two men were travelling together the other day from the interior of the state of Pennsylvania, towards Philadelphia, each entrusted with a large sum of money—their names were Brown and Blumer—the first had $15,000 and the second $60,000, in his care. Blumer stole Brown's $15,000 from his trunk, and after endeavoring to throw suspicion upon some of their fellow passengers, was finally suspected himself, arrested, searched and the money found upon him.

"Keep your tongue from evil speaking."—A merchant of Petersburg, Virginia, has been mulcted in the sum of five thousand dollars, for slanderous words spoken by his wife, of and concerning another lady, the daughter of the plaintiff. The trial occupied the court eight days. Forty witnesses were examined.

Mr Dixwell, will be instituted Master of the Latin School, this morning at 10 o'clock, A. M. There will be present on the occasion, the Mayor and Aldermen, and the School Committee, and the parents of the pupils are invited to attend.

☞ Upon first page will be found a short biographical sketch of Mrs. G. H. Barrett, whose farewell benefit, previous to her departure for Europe, will take place at the Tremont this evening.

We understand that the revenue that accrued at this port, during the months of October and November of this year was $559,259—during the corresponding time last year $463,653. Increase, 95,606.

The Rev. Mr Scott of Lowell, has rowed his Reverend brother Morse, of the same place, up to the further end of Salt Creek.

"Genteely dressed" people behave very bad in Philadelphia—a woman of this class stole a silver cased watch the other day.

The Bangor Theatre is hard pushed—they only play once in a while there, and then to very small audiences.

POLICE COURT.

Store Breaking.—On Wednesday night, Messrs A. & A. Lawrence's store was entered, and three pieces of valuable cloth were stolen. The robbery was not discovered till Friday, when Constable Clapp undertook to ferret out the perpetrators. In Broad street he fell in with Edward Buchannan, five days out of the House of Correction. He at once confessed that he was the robber, but added, that another named John Eagan, kept watch in the street, while he entered the store, and afterwards received the cloth, a part of which was found upon him. They were of course arrested, and on Saturday morning, Michael and John Butler were also taken, they having in their possession some of the cloth. There was some evidence to show, that they had bought it, but at such a low price as to raise a strong presumption that they knew it to be stolen. Sent up to the Grand Jury.

Capt. Samuel Nichols, of the schooner Henry, charged with assaulting James Fergerson, at the draw of Craigie's Bridge, on Thursday night, was discharged. The witnesses who testified against him were mistaken in the person. His honor said the assault was an abominable one, and if the assailant had been secured, he should have sent him to a higher court for punishment.

James Torr, a lad of seventeen only, was brought up by the watch, for being intoxicated in the street, and crying Murder, Fire, and Watch! Torr averred that he only drank a single glass of Noyeau. Admonished and fined.

SUPREME J. COURT.—In the case of Dr S. Thomson versus Hosea Winchester, for counterfeiting the Thomsonian Medicine, the jury, on Saturday, gave a verdict for the defendant. In our paragraph concerning this case, in Saturday's paper, there was a mistake which is calculated to have an unfavorable bearing upon Mr Winchester. It was gum myrrh, and not Winchester's preparations, which varied so much in value. Mr Henshaw stated that all the articles which he had purchased of Mr Winchester were of prime quality, the Shakers having always sustained the reputation of preparing all their herbs in a superior manner.

☞ The public are reminded that the sale of the choice of boxes for Mrs Barrett's benefit, will take place at 11 o'clock this morning, at the Saloon of the theatre.

The anxiety manifested for the success of this benefit, by all classes in our community, is the highest compliment that could be paid to Mrs. B. The names upon the Committee of Arrangements, embrace the most esteemed and respectable individuals among our citizens, and every thing connected with the evening's entertainment, will tend to render it one of the most interesting that has been witnessed here for many years; the compliment intended to be bestowed upon the beneficiary, is a most exalted one, and as deserved as it is elevated. It is a free offering to talent, beauty and virtue, and the mistress of these graces richly merits the ovation that awaits her.

The Lion Theatre.—A correspondent is in ecstacies with this establishment, and says—"the splendid effect of the battle scenes, with their red flames clashing o arms, and the rushing in of the horses, makes me feel as if I was acting the scene in reality." If our worthy correspondent do not exaggerate his feelings, we should recommend him to give bonds to keep the peace before he goes again.

Hon. Samuel W. Mardis, says the Alabama Mercury o the 19th, died at his residence in Talageda, Monday night, 14th inst. Mr Mardis was a member of the 23d Congress.

☞ The alarm of fire yesterday noon, was occasioned by the burning of a chimney, in the rear of 198 Washington street.

Accounts from Naples speak of an audacious attempt made by Miss Penelope Smyth to persuade the Prince o Capua, to crown her Queen of Sicily.

The burglars are very busy at Georgetown, D. C. The people there think that the Chichester gang are visiting them.

Colman's writing fluid, and his ne plus ultra pens, are a little the best articles in that line about now-a-days.

Maj. Gen. Morton, of New York, died suddenly on Saturday morning last, from an apoplectic fit.

LATER FROM FRANCE.

The ship Utica, Capt. Depeyster has arrived at New York from Havre, bringing advices to the 26th October from that port. By the following items of news by this arrival which we copy from the New York Express, it will be seen that the political news by this arrival is of some importance. Cotton has declined in price:—

A letter from Florence says that a Revolution has broken out at Palermo and that the Prince of Capu had been proclaimed king.

The health of the king of the French, at present, is feeble. It is said that he applies himself too much to business.

The Swiss affairs engage the attention of the Parisian Journals. The National rebukes the Journal des Debats for taking a high stand against the Swiss, and compares it with the cooler remarks it made when France was engaged in a dispute with the United States. 'In the affair of the twenty-five millions,' says the National, 'the French Cabinet had the right and it was pliant, but in the affair with Switzerland it is in the wrong, and it insists.' Louis Phillipe is particularly concerned in the course he takes, because when expelled by the first French Revolution he found a friendly home, as teacher of the French language, in the Institute of education at Reichenau, in the Grisons of Switzerland the country he now abuses.

The Swiss Diet was in session, and had named a committee to consider and report upon the difficulties with France.

The Helvetic considers that the majority of the committee of the Swiss Diet belong to the libe al opinion. A letter of the 18th inst from Berne, expresses a similar opinion, and adds:—"Judging from the composition of the committee, the report will neither be for concessions, nor perhaps for conciliation, even. A warm discussion is to be expected; what the vote will be we cannot guess."

The Journal des Debats professes not to be satisfied with the composition of this committee, and warns the Diet in a sort of semi-official tone, not to mistake the moderation of France for weakness.

M. de Mendizabal having been unable to pay the interst, as it became due, on the foreign debt of Spain, offered instead, orders upon the revenues of Cuba. Some of the French creditors had taken measures to attach Spanish government funds in the hands of the Paris bankers. The French Government, it is said, would also insist with M. Mendizabal, that he should preserve good faith with the foreign creditors.

An interview between the Emperors of Russia and Austria, and the King of Prussia, is spoken of, to take place early in December, somewhere in Silesia. The object is said to be to unite in some course respecting the affairs of Spain and Belgium.

The situation of Spain occupies all the European Cabinets, and the recognition of Don Carlos is not possibly far ffo.

Gomez was still active and successful.

Texas News.—The New Orleans Bulletin of the 25th ult., contains the Inaugural Address of President Houston.

A discusion upon the liberation of Gen. Santa Anna had taken place in Congress; but a large majority were in favor of retaining him a prisoner.

Mr Gibbs, chairman of the committee on Foreign Relations, made a report upon the condition of Texas and its prospects, accompained with resolutions empowering the President to treat with the Government of the United States for the admission of Texas into the Union.

The Mobile Register of Nov, 25th, has the following:—News came per the steamboat Watchman from Pensacola last evening of the wreck on the Florida Reef, of the brig Lowell, on her passage from Charleston to New Orleans, on the night of the 7th inst. The schooner Vesper, 7 days from Key West, via Tortugas Island, arrived at Pensacola on the 22d inst., with the passengers of the ship American and Lowell. It was reported at Pensacola that the steamboat Marion was ashore between Apalachicola and Tampa Bay. Some of the passengers of the American arrived in this city yesterday on board the Watchman from Pensacola.

The same paper states that the ship American is not certainly a total loss, though the hopes of saving her are faint. The passengers have united in testimony of confidence in the captain.

Fatal Imprudence.—On Sunday last several young men ventured upon the ice on Tobey's Millpond in Wareham upon skates for recreation. They had been sporting but a short time, when one of them, a son of Mr Jonathan Pearce, aged about eighteen, broke through and feel into the pond. The weakness of the ice prevented his associates from rescuing him and he drowned under the most painful circumstances. The untimely fate of this young man should prove a warning to others.—*N. B. NEW ENGLAND CROWN GLASS.—The New England Crown Glass Company have recently erected a new furnace and are manufacturing an excellent article. Their Crown Glass is thick, pure and of excellent color. Its thickness gives it an advantage over all thin glass, which is liable to crack from contraction in cold weather. Its surface not being polished after being blown, retains its enamel, brilliancy and hardness, and is not liable to the objection which applies to Plate Glass, of being easily and permanently bedimmed by dust.

The New England Crown Glass being purer in color than any other Glass, is preferable for Stores, as it does not tinge the rays of light as they pass through it, and therefore white goods particularly appear to advantage; and it is peculiarly useful for Factories, as some minutes of light may be gained morning and evening, in consequence of the absence of color in this glass. The price of second quality is reduced from the rates heretofore asked.

☞ Those who wish to contract for this Glass are requested to specify NEW ENGLAND CROWN GLASS. As much imposition has been practised by dealers in Glass, by deceptive marks on boxes and other artifices, any purchaser who may apprehend he has been imposed upon is invited by letter or personally to apply to the subscriber for any information he may wish to enable him to detect the deception. Orders sent to the undersigned, at Boston or East Cambridge, or to any at the Company's Selling Agents, will be promptly attended to. Persons wishing the appointment of Selling Agent, can apply to the subscriber by letter or otherwise.

MR R. W. EMERSON proposes to deliver a course of Lectures on the PHILOSOPHY OF MODERN HISTORY. The subjects to be treated are, the foundations of Religion, Politics, Literature, Science, and Art, in the nature of things; the action of general causes upon them at the present day; the present condition and tendencies of these elements of Civilization; the popular Sciences and Men of genius, (critically and biographically noticed, as these illustrate the general subject;) and the intellectual duties of the existing generation.

NEW YORK OYSTERS.—PARKER & WHITNEY respectfully inform their patrons and the public, that they are now in the regular receipt, at the Tremont Restorateur under Tudor's building, and opposite the new Court House, of the long celebrated New York Oysters, which will be served up to customers, in the shell, roasted, stewed or fried, at the shortest notice. Orders to supply families with them, will also be promptly attended to. M&T o17

FOSTER'S OLD STAND—116 Washington street.—B. F. FOSTER respectfully informs the public that his Commercial School is again removed to its Old Stand, where he will continue to give lessons as usual in Penmanship, Book Keeping and Arithmetic.

B. F. F's object is to render this establishment permanent, not by the now current method of—so much per square editorial puffs &c. &c but rather that it should be based upon and owe its success to its own solid and intrinsic good qualities.—With this end in view he will be, if possible, stimulated to still greater exertion in the discharge of his duties, so as to render his school more and more deserving of public patronage.

FOSTER'S PRACTICAL PENMANSHIP,

Is so simple and effective as to eradicate the most confirmed scrawl, and to substitute in its place a neat, rapid style of writing. From twenty to thirty lessons will, in most cases, be found sufficient, where the pupil has already some command of pen; yet no definite time is fixed, and the learner is entitled to a seat in the school until satisfied with his improvement.

BOOK-KEEPING, BY SINGLE AND DOUBLE ENTRY is taught in a practical manner—the learner opens, posts and balances two complete sets of books, in which are combined all transactions which can possibly occur in the ordinary course of business.

Each pupil is taught individually, and not by general explanations which one out of ten might perhaps comprehend at the expense of the other nine.

This is perhaps the only school in the city where the teacher combines in himself long practice in the counting house, joined to a close and applied study in the theory of this almost indispensable art. The decided advantages, therefore, which a practical Book-keeper has in teaching, over the mere theorist—who draws all his inferences from School Books alone—must be obvious to all.

In ARITHMETIC he will continue himself (unless by request) to the most essential rules, and to those calculations which are of daily recurrence in affairs of business.

NATHANIEL GREENE, Postmaster.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

AN account of that most excellent Medicine prepared at Dr Loveman's Gilead House. Price 50 cents per bottle. Sold by appointment in Boston, at D. S. ROWLAND'S, 188 Washington street, Boston.

"To administer to a mind diseased, pluck from the Memory a rooted Sorrow,
"Raze out the written troubles of the Brain, and with some sweet oblivious Antidote,
"Cleanse the foul Bosom of that perilous stuff which weighs upon the Heart."

Dr. LOVEMAN'S Balm of Gilead is universally acknowledged to be peculiarly efficacious in all inward wastings, loss of appetite, indigestion, depression of spirits, trembling or shaking of the hands or limbs, shortness of breath, and consumptive habits. It thins the blood, eases the most violent pain in the head and stomach, and promotes gentle perspiration. By the Medical Faculty this medicine is much admired being pleasant to the taste and smell, gently astringing the fibres of the stomach, and giving that proper tensity which a good digestion requires.

Dr Loveman's Balm of Gilead is recommended to the weak, the relaxed, and debilitated, as an agreeable and speedy restorative; and considered as a cordial, is essential to the comfort of ladies of fashion, being a preventive against cold, when taken before going out to parties, balls, routs or the play. It will enliven the spirits and invigorate the mind and body, and if taken after fatigue, it will with a few hours sleep, take away all languor consequent on broken rest, and give relief from every unpleasant sensation.

It is a most valuable remedy for such diseases as are attended with the following symptoms, namely—a great straitness of the breast, with difficulty of breathing—violent palpitations of the heart, sudden flasees of heat in various parts of the body—at other times a sense of cold, as if water was poured on them—flying pains in the arms and limbs, back and belly, resembling those occasioned by the gravel—the pulse very variable, sometimes uncommonly slow, at other times very quick—yawning, the hiccough, frequent sighing, and a sense of suffocation, as from a ball or lump in the throat—alternate fits of crying and convulsive laughing—the sleep unsound, and seldom refreshing, and the patient often troubled with horrid dreams. Much has been said by interested individuals against Medicines that are advertised, but there is a very important observation to be made respecting Dr Loveman's Balm of Gilead, that unless its operation was gentle, safe and efficacious, it could not have obtained the unexampled demand it has acquired.

NERVOUS DEBILITY.

"Without Health we can enjoy no Fortune;
Honors, Riches, and all other advantages are useless."
HIPPOCRATES.

This Cordial has been uncommonly successful with young people who have the appearance and air of old age, who are pale, effeminate, benumbed, stupid, and even imbecile; whose bodies are become bent, whose legs are no longer able to carry them, who have an utter distaste for every thing, and are totally incapacitated. Where the stomach is frequently disordered, the body is weakened; paleness, bodily decay and emaciation succeed, and the eyes sink into the head. The virtues of Dr Loveman's Balm of Gilead are demonstrated, in eradicating the worst and most dangerous symptoms of nervous debility, and nothing has tended so much to establish the fame of this medicine, as its certain success in those complaints which strike their roots so deep in the constitution, and are so fatal to the happiness of mankind.

Dr Loveman's Balm of Gilead has risen in repute with every trial of its efficacy. Some, perhaps, unacquainted with its virtues, not having perused the Guide to Health, may be induced to ask what is the Balm of Gilead good for? What complaint doth it cure?—To answer this it will be necessary to

"Hold the Mirror up to Nature."

Let those who are afflicted in the following manner reflect on the cause that produced such havoc upon the "wholesome appetites and powers of life:"—disordered stomach, dry cough, weakness in the voice hoarseness, shortness of breath upon the least exercise, and relaxation of the whole system. Those afflicted with paleness, languor of the eyes, weakness of sight or memory, should take time to consider Linnæus's advice, that "youth is the important period for forming a robust constitution," and that "nothing is to be dreaded so much as premature excess." The foundation of a happy old age is a good constitution in youth; temperance and moderation at that age are passports to happy grey hairs.

For such as have violated these precepts, then, this healing balm is suitable—complaints included in the vague appellation of Nervous and Consumptive, are those for which it is peculiarly adapted.

In offering this medicine to the public, I can say with confidence that they will find great benefit by using it in all diseases recommended, as I am fully acquainted with the medical qualities, as they have been discovered by myself, and are extracted from vegetables, and I can truly say, there is no earthly danger in using the medicine by any person, no matter how they may be afflicted. This medicine has been used by a large number of persons, and have been cured of diseases of a long standing, when all other medicines have failed. n23

THE TRUTH WILL PREVAIL.
CERTAIN DISEASES CURED.
Dr. Goodwill's Gonorrhœa and Gleet Detergent.

THE only infallible remedy ever discovered for Gonorrhœ and Gleets is now become too well known and established, in all parts of the Union, to require comment. Its universal success, which in no instance has ever failed, has warranted it to cure in forty-eight hours the most desperate and inflammatory cases of Gonorrhœa, Gleets, and whites in all their stages, strictures, Seminal Weaknesses, pains in the loins, irritation of the Uretura from Gravel, as well as chronic affections of the urinary bladder and kidneys, if ever so violent or of long standing. This safe and only infallible remedy is an agreeable liquid, and its effects long on the constitution, (being composed of Sarsaparilla and the choicest of preparations) that while it restores the system, its superiority over every other kind of medicine only requires a limited trial to know its efficacy. Every person that has made use of this medicine has been his own physician, and secrecy has been secured—having proved effectual in almost two thousand cases, and never to our knowledge failed in any instance. The vast and increasing sale from the recommendations of the highest medical characters, as well as those who have experienced its salubrious and beneficial effects, prove its great success and entire superiority over every other medicine, in being the most effectual remedy ever discovered for the cure of the above diseases, giving—muscular strength, energy and vigorous health to the whole frame. The most delicate females may take it with perfect safety. Dr Goodwill's Detergent is a safe, certain and speedy cure for the above diseases, from the most recent to the most protracted cases. It is taken without any risk, inconvenience, or suspension from business. See that your case is eradicated, not patched up by quack doctors or quack medicines. Those who make use of one single bottle may be convinced of the easy method of being cured. The "motto" of this medicine, "let every person be their own physician with secrecy." It will prevent the occurrence of the disease in persons, male or female, of the most fastidious delicacy, and is a real blessing to human kind. It ought always to be on hand.

N. B. A word to the wise.—Take no medicine but the above, and keep away from the quack Doctors, whose names appear in every public print, and then you take no mercury and save your constitution.

"We have much pleasure in bearing testimony to this safe and efficacious Medicine: we do this on grounds of strict impartiality, knowing several friends who have been cured by it. A fact that we know.

For sale by appointment at ROWLAND'S Apothecary Hall, 188 Washington street. A. Underhill, 38 Beekman st. New York. Jones & Hutchingson, corner of 7th and Chesnut sts, Philadelphia. Price 50 cents per bottle. n23

USEFUL DISCOVERY.—PAYSON'S INDELIBLE INK, for marking linen and cotton cloth, without a preparation. The inconvenience of using the old style of indelible ink is well known. This Ink requires no preparatory liquid, and is therefore used without the least trouble. It is warranted not to corrode or injure the finest cambric, and for color and durability is fully equal to the best in use. As there are other kinds (called Indelible Ink) used also without a preparation, some of which will not bear washing, purchasers should be particular to inquire for Payson's Indelible Ink.—For sale wholesale and retail at E. E. DYER'S.
